

LOST A PIECE OF EAR

A Free-For-All Brawl in a Downtown Saloon.

THE BITER IN THE COOLER

He Objected to the Rendition of That Bloomer Ballad, "After the Ball," and There It All Started.

George Douglas is in jail with the probability before him that he will have to answer to the charge of mayhem. Hugh Murray and a party of friends were celebrating pay day in Con O'Connor's place on Front street, yesterday morning. One of the party was singing, Douglas and a friend came in to have a drink and Douglas objected to the song; he said he was tired of hearing "After the Ball." The singer's friends said it wasn't his concert, and a mixing up began. When it was over, Hugh Murray found a piece of his right ear on the floor. Somebody had nipped it out with his teeth. Deputy Sheriff Joe Daly and Jack Conley gathered in the combatants who had scattered when the officers were sent for. Jack Conley, in order to bring his prisoner whole, went by the Palace on the way to the jail and put the piece of ear into a cigarette box and then took his man and piece to the pen.

Dr. Douglas was sent for and he made an attempt with the aid of Assistant Surgeon Chief of Police Jack White, to graft the ear on again. Douglas, the prisoner, had a narrow escape from rough treatment at the hands of Murray's friends. He has friends also, however, who say he is not altogether to be blamed; that he is of a peaceable nature, and is furthermore crippled by lead poisoning received in Colorado, partially paralyzing and turning both hands. J. R. Bowman, his attorney, decided it was best that he remain in jail until to-day, when bonds will be furnished.

A GENERAL SURPRISE.

Mulvehill's Cafe Attached by the Anaconda Meat Company.

Business circles were very much surprised yesterday by the attachment of Mulvehill's Cafe, owned by Mulvehill & Jordan, yesterday morning by the Anaconda Meat company. Two attachments were filed, each for $299, the full amount allowed in a justice court, but it is understood that the company holds a mortgage for about $1,000 more on the property. Alex Burnett took charge of the place and business was kept going as usual, although virtually in the hands of a receiver.

Other creditors filed attachments during the day, the principal accounts being as follows: McKinnon & McKay, $350; MacCallum & Cloutier, $300; Sam Pramenko, $400; Ben Falk, $100; And Mandoli, $70.

An effort was made to attach the race mare Minnie, in which Frank Jordan was formerly interested, but William Singleton had a bill of sale on her and the horse was released. The troubles of the firm are universally regretted as both members of the firm are popular men. They seemed to be doing a good business, and it is hoped their affairs will be straightened out. Internal difficulties are said to have been the main cause of the climax.

The Challenge Is Accepted.

The challenge issued by William Ahern, offering to back his hound Queen in a counting race, was accepted by Mike Monigie, who names his dog Daft, and posts a forfeit of $20. The purse to be $100 a side and the date any date agreeable within a week. Mr. Ahern left a deposit in this office the night before of $5 and the arrangements for the match will no doubt be completed in a few days.

A Defunct Saloon.

The saloon known as the Union, kept by M. W. Moore on Park avenue, was closed yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Joe Daly. The attachment was made by J. V. Collins & Co. for $225. Constable Pickle got in second with a bill from the Centennial Brewing Co. for $272.

He was carried to the Smith Drug company's store, and a physician called, but his services did not seem necessary. Shea recovered sufficiently to walk to his home in the alley in the rear of the Combination with the assistance of friends. He was under the influence of liquor, and if he was hurt internally the injury was not apparent.

ONE YEAR IN THE PEN

That's What Sam Graves Gets for Shooting Ed Welch.

OTHER MATTERS IN COURT

Charles Arris' Case Will Come Up on the 20th Inst.—Court House Officials May Have a Janitor—Notes.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

Deer Lodge, Sept. 12.—When the district court convened this morning all of the trial jurors who had been summoned were on hand, many of them with excuses intending to show why they should not be required to serve the state at this particular time. The court patiently heard the various tales which the gentlemen had to tell. Fifteen out of the 24 were excused for various causes and a special venire was issued for 12 persons, whose names were drawn from jury box No. 3, containing a list of the taxpayers of the town of Deer Lodge. Of this number eight were accepted and still the panel was not complete. Another venire was then issued for four more jurors, returnable to-morrow.

By agreement between the attorneys the case of the state against Sam Graves then went to trial. Graves is the man who on the 12th of last May fired a bullet into the body of Edward J. Welch at Mike Louth's boarding house on East Front street in the city of Anaconda. County Attorney Trippet prosecuted and W. W. Goodwin, who was appointed by the court, appeared for the defense. The taking of the testimony did not last long. In a measure the evidence was of a contradictory character. The defense sought to show that Graves had been assaulted and, in self-defense, when he believed his life was in danger he had fired the shot. It appeared from the evidence that Welch and Graves, who were fellow boarders, took a buggy ride into the country. Upon their return Welch borrowed $1 from Graves and went up town and bought some beer. Upon Welch's return Graves asked him for his change. A quarrel arose and then the fight began. They went into the back yard; Welch hit Graves a swipe on the jaw. Graves claims Welch threatened to kill him. Graves then pulled a pistol and fired a shot which very nearly cost Welch his life.

At 6 o'clock this afternoon the case was given to the jury, which was composed of the following named persons: A. D. Smith, J. J. Deniff, John Lappin, Henry Miller, A. O. Du Broy, Joseph de Loge, D. C. Irvine, John J. S. Bignall, Harry A. Fletcher, John Clabaugh and S. J. Latham.

At 9 o'clock to-night the jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment of Graves at one year in the penitentiary at hard labor.

Charles Arris, who was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of highway robbery, was brought into court this morning and arraigned. He pleaded not guilty. The court appointed W. W. Goodwin to defend him. Arris is a colored man and the crime for which he is charged was committed in Anaconda. He is accused of having held up a resident of the Copper City during the race, and of having relieved him of his purse containing $5.50. The case was set for trial on Sept. 20.

The occupants of the court house are much pleased with the recommendations of the grand jury regarding the matter of the appointment of a janitor for the county offices. For some time an unusual condition of affairs has obtained in this matter. Each county officer has been acting as his own janitor. It is generally felt that the county commissioners at their next session will appoint a janitor to look after this work.

Hon. C. K. Hardenbrook and family have again removed to Deer Lodge and are now occupying the Erickson residence in Larabee's addition.

T. B. McKinstry, a respected resident of this city, is lying seriously ill at his home here.

Three prisoners were received at the penitentiary this week.
